Fund Description

Fund Manager: Thomas Moore since December 2016
Tom Hemmant August 2020

Invesco High Yield Bond is a high yield bond fund predominately focusing on sterling and euro denominated high yield issuance. Thomas Moore is the lead manager of this strategy, previously working alongside long-term managers Paul Causer and Paul Read, who managed the fund since inception in 1999. Prior to joining Invesco in 2016, Thomas Moore worked in the fixed income team at Morgan Stanley for 12 years and is co-head of fixed income department at Invesco. Tom Hemmant works with Moore as co-manager, having worked in the fixed income team at Invesco since 2011 and was promoted to co-manager in 2020 following the retirements of Paul Read and Paul Causer. The managers benefit from access to the extensive Invesco fixed income team, which has a long running track record. The objective is to achieve a combination of income and total return over a long term horizon (5+ years). This is done by being unconstrained against the benchmark, instead opting to use the IA £High Yield sector for comparison. The portfolio is well diversified, holding between 100-200 issuers to avoid liquidity concerns and opts to hedge back to sterling to eliminate currency risk.
