Fund Description

Fund Manager: Chris Bowie since December 2014

TwentyFour Corporate Bond is a UK corporate Bond fund which seeks to outperform the Investment Association £ Corporate Bond sector average, through a combined top-down and bottom-up research process. TwentyFour Asset Management was founded in 2008 and is a boutique investment house specialising in fixed income alone and Vontobel Asset Management is the majority owner of the organisation, although 40% remains owned by the firm's employees. Fund manager Chris Bowie is the key decision maker for the fund, and has over two decades of experience in managing credit. He was previously head of credit portfolio management for ten years at Ignis Asset Management. Working alongside him is portfolio manager Gordon Shannon, they formed a strong working relationship at Ignis Asset Management previously and Portfolio Assistance Jack Daley provides additional support. The team seek to add value through three different levers, namely; duration management, sector positioning and security selection. Their proprietary system called 'Observatory' is used for initial screening purposes from a current spread, yield and historic volatility point of view. Additionally, allowing the fund managers to undertake sector, currency and country comparisons. The resulting portfolio is a concentrated bond fund with fewer than 100 individual bonds. The fund benefits from being competitively priced in relation to peers.
